THE 1966 JEB

Dedication

Searching--for humility. Seeking--character. We found a teacher who possesses a pleasing combination of all the fine qualities that make a person outstanding. Her personal integrity and broad vision have been a source of guidance and inspiration. She has had faith in us when we had no faith in ourselves. She has encouraged us when we have become lax in spirit. Her wonderful knack of working well with young people will serve as a goal for us to seek to accomplish in future years. Her influence has been ever-present in both the academic and extra-curricular parts of our high school life. With these things in mind, we dedicate THE 1966 JEB to MRS. FOSTER STAPLES.

Foreword

Our days at Stuart School are numbered--both for those who sought and found and for those whose quest is yet unsatisfied. Cherished thoughts are many as we recall our enthusiasm for extracurricular activities, our rewards for work well done, and our goal of graduation. Each day brings another challenge, another trial, another attainment. Each year brings momentous changes in our lives: our teachers, our school, our interests, our activities, our attitudes--all have changed. These memories and these changes are told in the words and seen in the pictures of this book. THIS IS OUR LIFE . . .

Throughout the years Stuart School has been blessed with outstanding faculty members and administrative officials. This year is certainly no exception.

Students in both the elementary and secondary grades receive instruction and guidance from men and women who have dedicated their lives to the education of tomorrow's leaders. These devoted teachers not only spend countless hours preparing their courses of instruction, but spend much time advising and giving help to students in their extra-curricular activities. Their influence is clearly evident in every facet of school life. On behalf of the students of Stuart School, the Jeb Staff would like to thank the faculty and administrators for all that has been accomplished during this year.

No high school would be necessary or complete without the participation of the students.

Careening down the halls at a breakneck pace the sub-freshmen had the school in hand in less than a week.

The freshmen establish themselves as indispensable to the network at Stuart High, learn to accept responsibilities and channel their interest after one year of high school.

Since the sophomore is now a true member of high school, he enthusiastically participates in clubs and sports, and accepts many responsibilities now given him.

Eagerly accepting their responsibilities, juniors contribute readily to any and all school activities.

As the senior begins his last year he realizes that what has been most important to him is not how many hours have been spent, or how long he has worked, but what he has accomplished.

An important part of every students' education comes from membership and participation in the activities of one or more of Stuart High School's ten organizations. Through participation in these, a student gains social awareness, a sense of responsibility, knowledge and skill in possible vocational fields, leadership ability, and a sense of sportsmanship.

The Beta Club stresses scholarship, leadership, achievement and service. The purpose of the Student Council is to govern the student body democratically, giving each student a chance to take an equal part in our government. The 4-H, FFA, and FHA bring recognition to the school by participation in local, state, and national contests, and members of these gain practical knowledge which will be useful to them in their careers. The Monogram Club awards letters and stars to outstanding and deserving athletes. The Hi-Y endeavors to extend Christian character throughout the home, school, and community. The Library Club provides aid in the library, mending books, arranging them on shelves, while they gain knowledge of library methods. The Latin Club increases understanding and enjoyment of the Latin language and Roman culture. The Annual Staff works diligently all year to edit a yearbook of high quality. In the following pages, we will examine each of these organizations more closely.

The Student Cooperative Association is an organization in which students, with the help of the faculty, govern the school and sponsor all clubs and their activities.

The president and members of the S.C.A., using ideas they received at summer workshop and district meetings, have undertaken many successful projects. Among these are the preparation of student handbooks, a S.C.A. As the only honor society of Stuart High, the Beta Club awards membership to outstanding students. The members strive to promote scholarship, character, and leadership, not only among themselves, but to all high school students. To encourage those who are not members, the Beta Club posts an honor roll each six weeks and gives pins of achievement to those who excel in their classes.

The Monogram Club supports the athletic program of Stuart High, and encourages student participation and sportsmanship. The club recognizes students outstanding in basketball, baseball, track, and cheerleading. In order to be a member of the Monogram club, a person must have earned his letter in at least one of the co-curricular sports. Its members are in charge of the concession at ball games.

The F.H.A. is an organization of students who have had at least one year in home economics. Its goal is to promote a growing appreciation of the ideals of homemaking so as to enrich their lives and the lives of their families. The members observe F.H.A. week by performing different services each day of that week. Each year they have a bake sale and a Mother-Daughter banquet. One of the very nice citizenship projects this year was cleaning and painting the girls' back hall.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization for high school boys who study vocational agriculture. The foundation upon which the F.F.A. is built includes leadership, character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, citizenship, and patriotism. During the year members compete in federation, area, and state forestry contests, in a degree team contest, public speaking contests, and dairy judging contests. They also sponsor a Father-Son banquet, and attend a Federation banquet and State Convention.

F.F.A. Sweetheart Contestants: Ann Taylor, Donna Martin, Darlene Goad, Becky Williams, Sharon Rorrer.

The members of the F.F.A., also learn valuable skills in the shop, where they build many items useful to the school. For example, the new scorer's table in the gym, as well as the props used in the Christmas program and the Beauty Pageant were built by F.F.A. members. They have also completed a study of the wiring of electrical circuits. These projects, as well as others, have enabled the F.F.A.'s members to gain knowledge in areas which will be extremely helpful in the future.

Members of the Annual Staff work on copy for the '66 JEB during a regular staff meeting.

Producing THE JEB absorbs many after-school hours, as well as study hall time, for each of the students on the staff if deadlines are to be met. Staff members have to meet qualifications which involve creative ability, cooperative personalities, and good grades, but of more importance, a genuine interest in the yearbook and of most importance, the desire and willingness to work. Membership on the staff is made up of students who have expressed a desire to work and have promised to give the necessary time to fulfill the responsibility of their assignment.

Students are happy and feel honored to play a part in summarizing through pictures and copy their year of life at Stuart High.

Through attending the North Carolina Press Institute, at the University of North Carolina, reading periodicals, and attending staff conferences while assembling the yearbook a student gains valuable training in areas of journalism such as photography, layout, design, writing, editing, topography, art, and advertising.

As the years pass, a yearbook becomes more valuable and enjoyable when one looks back to see and read of the joys and memories from his high school days.

Sports at Stuart High has always been a thing of enjoyment and importance to students, athletes, and fans. The encouragement to excel which is offered in the sports program often times is more inviting to the student than in other areas of school life. During the past two years, this program has been expanded to the extent that more students than ever before have an opportunity to participate in athletics here at S.H.S. Much of the credit for this expansion must go to Mr. Walker who is responsible for the track and golf teams of which we can now be so proud.

The student body can be proud of the excellent coaching and winning teams found in the athletic department. And they can also be justly proud of the fine sportsmanship which has always been regarded as important at Stuart High School.

Speed Compensates For Lack Of Height

The Stuart Wildcats, sparked by a hot shooting first five, and backed by a strong bench, have had a successful season this year, placing first in the district, and also defeating teams rated high in the state outside the district. The success of the Wildcats has been due to fine defensive work on the part of Jack Dickerson and Rick Flippin, with good rebounding hustle by Bill Alexander and Martin Hopkins. Stuart's attack has been strengthened also with fine ball handling by Charles Ammons, and all-around good individual shooting, led by the fine steady shooting of Alan Adkins. The excellent coaching of W.D. Walker has transformed the sensational sophomores of '64 to the fabulous five of '66, leading the Wildcats to a victorious season.

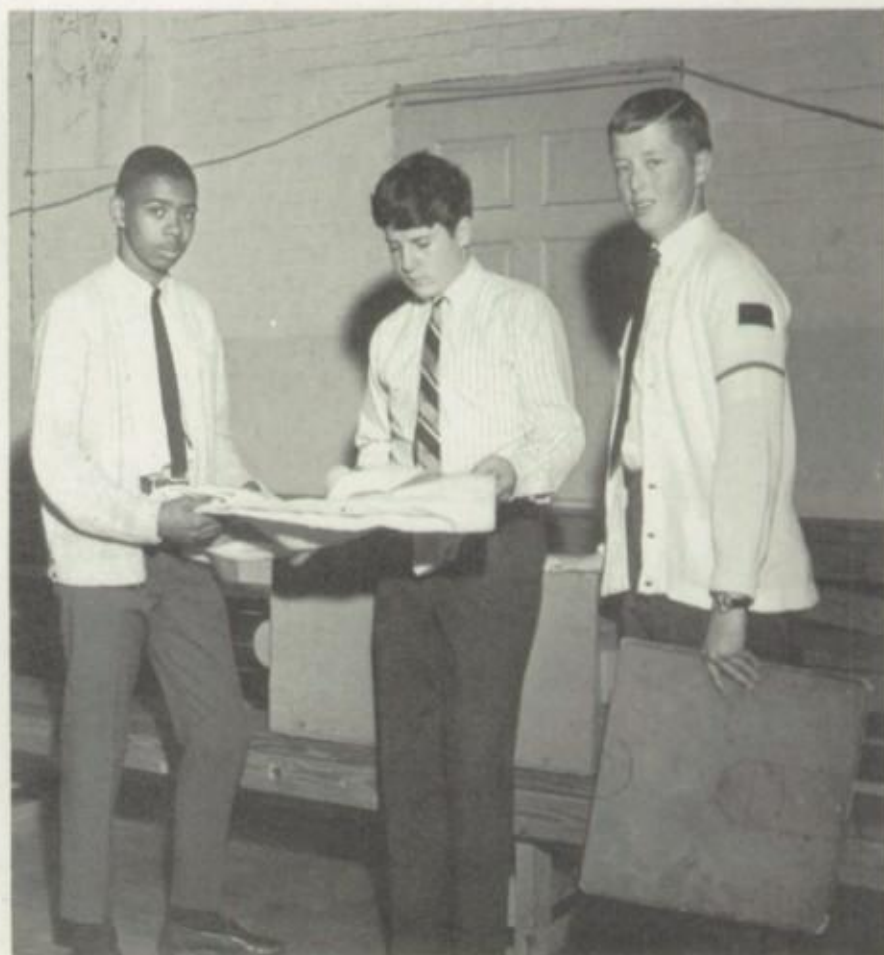

The underestimated Wildcats proved that talent, teamwork and desire spell success as they defeated Auburn and Valley to win the Western Division Championship. The following week they used their tenacious defense to overcome the twelve point halftime lead of the undefeated W-L Tigers and became the fourth team in Stuart's History to win the State Championship.

In this section of THE JEB, the staff has attempted to capture the recognition that some have received as individuals, as well as some of the events which many will want to remember in the coming years. For each of us, these activities will have a special meaning. And for each of us they will occupy a special place in our minds and hearts.

Clubs Provide Entertainment At Christmas Social

The Christmas social was held at night this year in the school cafeteria. It was sponsored by the S.C.A., and was planned well, with the able assistance of Mrs. Dickerson, S.C.A. advisor. The program consisted of a Christmas play, with all clubs taking part. The setting for the play was T.A. Weary's Novelty Shop window on Christmas Eve. After Mr. Weary had closed his shop for the night, the different toys in the window came to life, each adding their part to the play. The Literary Development class put on a skit, "Saint George and the Dragon." Two girl trios sang, and the French and Latin classes sang French and Latin Christmas carols. Bill Alexander contributed a humorous skit, "The Telephone". Afterwards, the F.H.A. served refreshments and a band composed of several students played for dancing. A beautiful Christmas tree was furnished and decorated by the F.F.A.

The fifth annual Homecoming was held on Saturday, February the fifth. The night was begun by the homecoming game, with the Stuart Wildcats pitted against the Woolwine Warriors. The girls' game came first, and although the Wildcats fought well, the attack of the Warriors was too much. The final score of the girls' game was Woolwine 40, Stuart 27. The next tip-off found the Woolwine boys engaged in a fierce struggle with the Wildcats. From the opening jump, it was the Wildcats all the way. Stuart played excellent defense, and had a fine shooting night. With this combination, continuing through the game, supported by a strong bench, the Wildcats got on top to stay, and at the horn the scoreboard showed the hot Wildcats 84, the Woolwine Warriors 37. Then the festivities began in the cafeteria. Those who attended the homecoming saw Deanna Spencer crowned Homecoming Queen. Then the dance began, with music supplied by the fabulous "Embers".

Everyone is anxiously awaiting the announcement of Stuart High's Homecoming Queen for 1966.

Deanna Spencer, Homecoming Queen, occupies the throne, wearing her crown of 007.

The most impressionable years of a person's life are his early years in school. The elementary grades, therefore, play a major part in a person's later life. Here in the first seven grades at Stuart School, children learn not only "The three R's," but gain important practical knowledge needed for future years. From the first day the first grader enters Stuart School, he begins and continues to build toward that important goal-graduation. During this time he develops, under the patient and able leadership of the elementary teachers, lasting friendships with fellow students, fine character traits, and learns to reason, to make decisions, and to set his own goals. All this prepares him for his adjustment to high school life, and gives him confidence in himself and his school.

Acknowledgements

The 1966 Jeb Staff wishes to thank the many people who have helped make this yearbook possible. We owe special thanks to Mrs. Dorothy Akers, for allowing us to use her house for the taking of senior officer's pictures; to Morgan Hines, who took several of the pictures found in this yearbook; to the Delmar photographer Mr. C. W. Boswell; to the entire faculty which has been so helpful and understanding; and especially to Mrs. Tatum, our advisor, without whose invaluable assistance, patience, and good judgment this annual could never have been completed.

To all these people, our advertisers, and many others too numerous to mention, the 1966 Jeb Staff would like to say a very sincere "Thank You".

Dear Senior Class of '66:

You are now completing your public education and it is in order to extend to you "Congratulations" for your perseverance and final achievement.

You are standing on the threshold of a new and exciting life. Commencement is truly the beginning--the beginning of greater accomplishments and greater responsibilities. Some of you will go to college pursuing a higher education to better fit you for life. Others of you will take up your responsibilities in the business world. Wherever you go or whatever vocation you engage in, we hope and pray that the future will be good to each and everyone of you. In this connection, you may rest assured that you may depend on us to render the best possible service to you and your community in every way that we know how. Your problems, either insurance or in civic affairs, are of prime interest to us.

Wishing you the best of luck for the future, we are,

Sincerely,

Paris H. Pugh, Owner
